caddie basic training manual

THE CADDIE MANAGER

Caddie managers are given the task of recruiting, training, nurturing and supervising a golf club's caddies. They must also communicate effectively with the golf professional and other golf club staff members and can have a significant influence on the extent to which the membership enjoys the game at their club.

A professionally trained, knowledgeable and courteous group of caddies and a well-managed caddie program can help a golf club deal more effectively with slow play, significantly add to the number of enjoyable rounds of golf and enhance the golf club's overall image of a well-managed, first-class operation.

Each club will have its own set of rules and procedures for caddies to follow. Learn them quickly. Do not be afraid to ask your caddie manager questions, not only about your service to the players, but also:

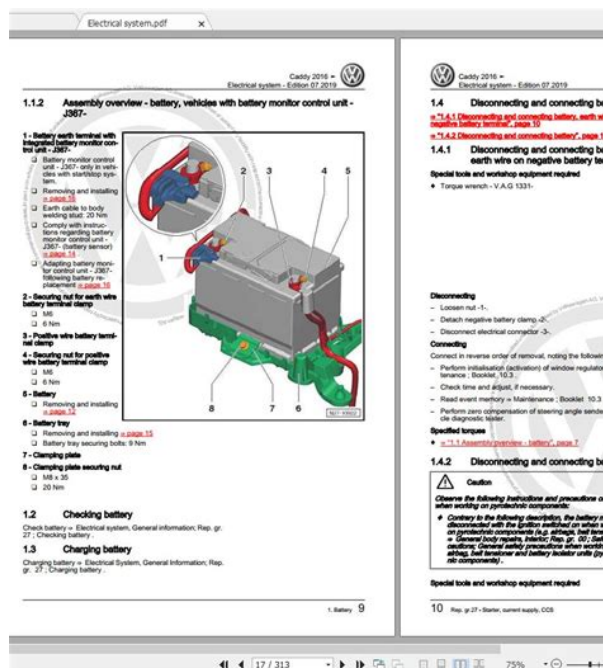

- How, when and where to report to work and await your daily assignment.
- How, when and where to go and what to do when given your daily assignment.
- How, when and where you will be compensated for your work as a caddie.
- How, when and where to obtain information on college scholarships granted to caddies.

The delegate will learn the basic concepts of Caddie and will be taught to draw various entities using the different Caddie Applications. I personally don't use the 3D capabilities but the software's ease of use and simplicity have been instrumental in my drawing efficiency and quality. I would highly recommend Caddie to any Architectural company. The technical support is outstanding and easily understood. My work consists mainly of drawing up existing surveys along with plans, sections and elevations and overall I find Caddie better for drawing. Architect, Richard Likupe on the UK Launch of Caddie 25, and the benefit of upgrading This will make it easy to demonstrate to new people what CAD can do. Using the new software is a revelation too, from the first moment I opened Caddie 25, I found it so much faster than my previous versions; and with thousands of new Catalogue items to choose from it's easy to create highquality drawings and models quickly. In short, I'm a very happy Caddie customer. Having been a KUHLMANN drawing board user in the 80's I felt safe in the sense that I wouldnt have to adjust to the new technology "Computers". Then I was introduced to the DOS version of CADDIE. We upgraded to CADDIE 5 Professional and used the programme until the hard drive of the computer gave up and I was forced to upgrade. I was familiar with the CADDIE 9 and did not want to adjust to use the "NEW CADDIE". Ever since I started experiencing the latest version of CADDIE it is an absolute pleasure. If I get stuck, help is just a phone call away. Brilliant!. After doing the three day Quick Start Course I drew quicker on Caddie than on my old system Caddie the Complete Package It is inspiring to see everything that Caddie can do and it is a major advantage that you have someone you can talk to about needs and implementations to increase productivity. Very helpful have been doing this stuff manually; it is great to see that it can be done automatically. <http://nandishoverseas.com/UserFiles/dewalt-dw369-manual.xml>

Look forward to the next YouTube training tip. Yours Bruce Whitehead Company two, AN ANSWERPHONE MESSAGE. Caddie support answered, Afternoon Steve, how can we help you today. Help when you need it makes a big difference. Especially in my case! You can't see a difference until you start to experiment with all the new functions. The backup support form Caddie is still a constant and always satisfactory. It turns out I had caught the NumLock key by accident changing the function of the number pad keys on my keyboard! I believe that it is unique in giving every user direct input into the way the software is developed and the fact that the relationship is personal and not via some anonymous helpdesk is very important to us. It's always possible to get a query answered quickly and efficiently which is essential for the smooth running of our practice. After seeing the model the client immediately gave me the project Really useful tips in bitesized chunks With Caddie, changing drawings is now a small rather than a major part of my life Its quite fantastic how Caddie changes your life. Loving the scroll through the paper sheets ideal for larger projects when we have loads of paper spaces. We have found Caddie support to be extremely responsive, assisting with any of our queries promptly over the phone and providing invaluable followup information . Colin Logan of 9yards Property Ltd. The Caddie support team are superb too, with Andrew and Sam from ACS Ltd. Before I switched to Caddie, I would struggle to produce even basic CAD plans, but now, thanks to the help and advice I've had from the support guys over the last 3 years I'm creating full 3D building models complete with lifelike material textures too. The building models I create enable me to produce all of my 2D plans, sections and elevation drawings, plus the 3D views rendered views that enable my clients to get a great understanding of how the finished building will fit into its surroundings. <http://coming-c.com/userfiles/dewalt-dw321k-jigsaw-manual.xml>

It really is little tweaks like this that makes Caddie so good. It is fantastic and not only tells you that the block is being edited, it makes it much easier to see and edit. Picking it up very quickly. Many thanks to Tony for his unbelievable patience!! Wish I did this years ago. It was a great way to see what the function does, and so much better than reading about it! The fact that the relationship is personal and not via some anonymous helpdesk is very important to us as our practice has been built upon personal relationships with clients and providers alike. We hope that relationship will sustain far into the future. Ross James of James Steel gets some help from the Caddie Support Team in streamlining his workflow. Score an expert golfer might get rough long grass on either side of fairway slice shot that curves right for a right handed player, or a shot that curves left for a left handed player. What are the basic job of cadding carrying the bag. KEEP PACE WITH YOUR PLAYER what to do when on the fairway find sprinkler heads on the ground they let you know how many yards are from that point to the center of the green. count or subtract yards using a step per yard approach the players ball only if they are away. DO NOT TOUCH BALL. if you cant identify the ball let your player touch it. THEN CATCH UP WITH PLAYER, maybe clean golf club while catching up. What to do about water hazards and out of bounces. Tell player if their ball lands in water hazard or out of bounce. What to do if your player hits ball into bunker. Next grab rake and rake bunker, retrace footsteps, and enter and leave on a low point. What to do on green. After the ball comes to rest ask the next player furthest away if they would like it attended. What to do after the round ask player where they will like their bag.

What to bring forcaddie bring earlier mentioned options and 3 more towels. Just watch for next shot. If players ball lands in rough put a small towel by it. If a ball is lost and you never saw it land tell player the truth. What to do on the green forcaddie forcaddies always have flag duty. keep pace.

what to do after the round for caddie thank all players and have one of them fill out the evaluation card. The money is good, you work outdoors and have an opportunity to meet successful and influential people, and you may even earn a college scholarship. It is part of golf's heritage and part of its future. It is also a great way to learn the game of golf. Knowledge of its contents will help make you a better caddie and valuable to the club and the golfers you serve. We believe caddies are an important part of the game of golf and together we are working to help keep young people like you active and interested in this great sport. He must also communicate effectively with the Golf Professional and other club staff members and can have a significant influence on the extent to which the membership enjoys the game. However, do not be afraid to ask your Caddie Manager questions, not only about your job on the course, but about Carefully count the clubs in the bag the rules permit a maximum of 14 clubs. If the player has more or less than 14 clubs, tell the player. NOTE Keep the covers on the woods, hybrids, and putter. Tell the player you are a new caddie. Be sure you are not in an area where you could be hit by the ball or where you might be distracting the player. If the sun is in your eyes, move to a position where you will be able to follow the flight of the ball. If you are not waiting for another assignment, go home. On the tee, position yourself where you won't distract the player and where you can follow the flight of the ball. If it is not your ball, stand back and out of the way while any ball farther away is played, then proceed to your ball.

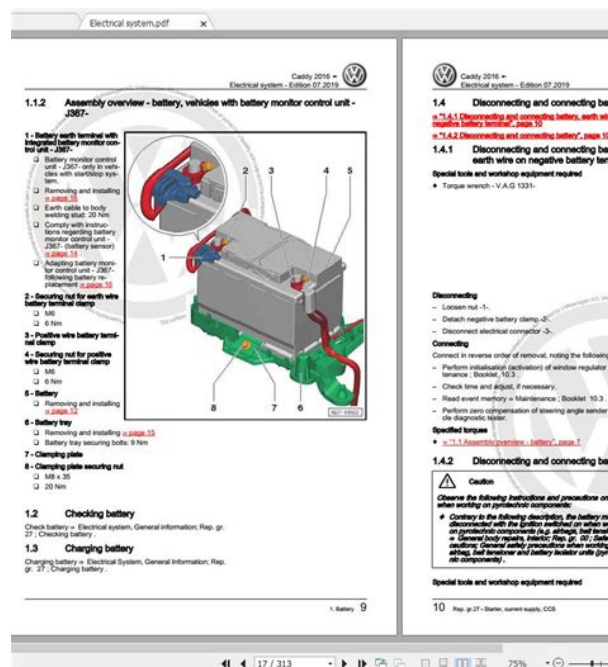

<http://schlammatlas.de/en/node/15931>

After the player has selected his club, quickly move out to a position at least ten feet to the right of the player and concentrate on watching your player's ball in flight. Always be careful not to be in a position where you could be hit by a golf ball. If a ball in flight may hit someone, yell "FORE"! If the player's ball ends up on the green, hand him his putter, otherwise, move quickly to the next shot. Don't lag behind. After reaching player's ball, stand bag about 3 feet to the right and allow player to select a club. If you are not going to tend the flagstick, go directly to the next tee. Learn to judge which ball is farthest from the hole. If you can reach the cloth at the top of the flagstick, hold it so that it does not flap in the wind. Right CORRECT When tending the flagstick correctly, your body or shadow will not be in the "line of putt". Mark the position of the ball with some permanent object like a tree or large rock so that you will be able to find the ball. Never take the golf bag into the bunker with you. Set the bag down and walk into and out of the bunker using the same path the player did. Be sure not to disturb players when raking especially around the greens. After smoothing all the footprints, leave the rake outside the bunker and lying in the direction of the hole. Your ability to communicate with the other caddies in your group and work as a member of a team will help your ability to effectively service the members of your group and help the pace of play immeasurably. It will also make your job easier, more fun and could result in better tips. In general, the caddie whose players are on the green first attends the flagstick. The other caddies should rake bunkers as required and prepare to forecaddie on the next hole if appropriate. The duties are essentially the same as when carrying, except for bag and club handling. You must hustle to keep up with the cart, but this is not difficult when you have no bags to carry.

<http://esdara.com/images/breville-cafe-roma-espresso-maker-manual.pdf>

Generally, the players handle their own clubs, except for the putters—but some may require more service than others. Find out which of the players will drive and put the driver's bag on the driver's side. Take the putters with you before leaving the first tee. On each green thereafter, you will give the players their putters and take any clubs they have in hand. As they walk off the green, you will retrieve the putters and hand the clubs back for the players to place in the bags on the cart. If a player eludes you in exiting the green, you must return any clubs you are holding back to the bag and retrieve the putter from the player or the bag. Do this as soon as possible before you reach the next green. Nevertheless, try to spot as many bunkers for them as you can, and do your very best to spot all balls headed for trouble. If you are under 16 years old, you must tell them you are underage and not permitted to drive a cart. Fixing ball marks on the green, replacing divots, taking a club or two when you share a caddie with someone who has hit his ball into the rough and making sure the golf bag is not loaded with unnecessary equipment will help the caddie to keep up the pace and more effectively serve the player. Make sure your shoes are comfortable and will give you proper support and traction on grass. On wet days, wear footwear that will keep your feet dry. Wear a waterproof jacket on rainy days. When it's very hot, wear loosefitting, lightweight and lightcolored clothing, a golf cap or brimmed hat and good sunglasses if you have them. When it's cold, wear layers of warm clothing, gloves or mittens and a warm hat. Always carry a sweater or windbreaker with you, except when there is no chance of the day turning cold or stormy. Don't try to get through the day on a soda and a candy bar. For lunch, have a sandwich, a sports drink and a healthy snack. Drink an energy drink such as Gatorade, rather than a soda.

One of the most basic questions is, "Do you schedule individual caddies or is it first come, first serve" That makes a big difference as to when you have to be in the caddie yard. There are training films on the web that can help, too. For some kids, it's plain scary. Just know the nerves will calm and you'll meet golfers and staff members who will go out of their way to help you get comfortable. You'll not be asked to do more than you're capable. And if you should be, say, asked to "read" a putt that you have no clue about, just say, "I don't know." No demerits for honesty. Golfers are often asked to rate their caddies. Ask the caddie master for feedback when someone rates you. You'll learn faster that way. He sounds like your Dad. "Look people in the eye. Shake their hand with a firm handshake. You see so many kids who aren't like that. I wasn't like that as a kid. I was shy. I wish my parents had coached me to be better on that." They will begin by giving you the universal caddie commandments Show up. Keep Up. Shut up. But they'll tell you a lot more about how things go during a round, tricks to tracking a ball, how to deal with different personalities and what they want from a caddie.
